Thank you for the response acha. Firstly, I actually want to thank you. I'm current 19 years old and I first found your videos around the time I have 15-16 years old, and through your videos I fell deeply in love with the beauty of our church. If it wasn't for you I probably would not of created any of this. Secondly I'm free to call anytime today, tomorrow, and Monday.

Hello Fr. Palackal. I live in Dallas Texas and attend the St. Alphonsa Syro Malabar Catholic Church in Coppell. This is a list of everything I have:

A document I created with the almost the entire Syriac raza transliterated into English.

A folder with my renditions of all the hymns and slosas in the raza

Recordings of the qurbana hymns being sung in English but in Syriac melodies done by the folks at the cathedral

The English and the Malayalam of the Syro Malabar liturgy of the hours

A transliterated Assyrian church of the East raza text

Various documents about this history and practices of the Marthoma Nazranis

Documents about various and laws of the Syro Malabar church

And various other documents created by various people.

All of this is on a Google Drive created by a friend of mine named Aljo, which I will share with you.

Also this is another document I found that lead to various breakthroughs in terms of finding transliterations and understanding the Raza qurbana as whole that isn't in the Google Drive but I think you would find quite interesting:

Also I would love to speak with you over WhatsApp about all of this.

Thank you, Noel for this good news.

Please send all materials. We shall archive them at our digital library. When you send something,

Please write a note with all the information on the video. Where do you live?

Thank you again

Fr Joseph

Dear Rev Fr. Palackal,

I have the set of Raza qurbana recordings from Fr Plathotam's CDs in a shared Google Drive.

This is the link:

I also have a few other resources that I have created that I would also like to share with you.

Thank you,

Noel Jeju
